John Robinson, Esq.,
Essex Institute,
Salem, Mass.

Dear Mr. Robinson:-

I am taking the liberty of enclosing a letter sent to us by the Assistant Librarian of the Vermont Historical Society. You have such an important collection of military buttons at your museum that I am sure it will be easy for you to identify this piece for her, and I know she will appreciate whatever you may be able to do.

Very respectfully yours,

Secretary.

Gentlemen:

We received recently from France by mistake with some books on Oriental coins the following item: Medallas de las colonias, municipios y pueblos antiques de España, by Henrique Florez, Madrid, 1757-73, 3 vol. We thought it might be easier to find a purchaser here than to trouble to send it back. If you haven't it already, would you care to buy at the price we paid, £1.18?

Very truly yours,

Louise M. Taylor.

Dear Madam:

In response to your letter of August 7th, I am very sorry that we cannot help you as we already have a copy of the book by Florez, and I know of no one who would want to purchase it. If you are willing to "pocket a loss", I would suggest that you send it to The Elder Coin and Curio Co., 21 West 35th Street, New York, for inclusion in one of their coming auctions, but I believe the easier way would be to return it.

Very truly yours,

Secretary
